17th - 20th
October 2019

The Small and Friendly Festival
in a Historic Walled Town

PROGRAMME

Messages

It is my privilege and pleasure to welcome all who read this to the Berwick Literary Festival on behalf of all connected with it. Now in its sixth year, the Festival has quickly become an established and appreciated part of the life of our Town. However, it only happens because many people volunteer their time and expertise to make it happen. To all of them I offer sincere thanks. Once again, this year's Festival offers a mixture of talks and other activities. In our Programme and on our website you can see what is offered. I do hope that, whether you are a resident of our Town or a visitor, you will find something in the Festival to enjoy and to stimulate your interest.

Michael Wright
(Chairman of the Steering Group, Berwick Literary Festival )

---

It gives me great pleasure to support the Berwick Literary Festival in its sixth year. Each year the Festival has grown from strength to strength bringing opportunities for residents and visitors to enrich themselves with the written word, which is so lacking in this technological age in which we live. The success of the Festival is a testament to the vision and organisation of the organisers whom I am deeply grateful for the literary profusion that they bring to the town. This is a wonderful Festival and I hope that all will participate over the three days that it is on.

Anne-Marie Trevelyan
(MP for Berwick-upon-Tweed)

On behalf of all the residents of Berwick-upon-Tweed and its Town Council, I am pleased to be able to welcome all those who will be visiting the sixth Berwick Literary Festival. The Literary Festival has quickly become an established part of the life of our Town. Long may it continue.

Councillor Anne Forbes
(Mayor of Berwick-upon-Tweed, 2019-20)

Michael Ayton

Orlando - a pre-production Talk

Michael Ayton teaches at Newcastle Explore, a lifelong learning centre. As introduction to the Dyad Theatre Company's Orlando, he'll discuss how Virginia Woolf came to write this most unclassifiable of books and outline the controversies surrounding it, looking at its style, presentation of history and 'other' cultures and its connection with present-day feminism and gender politics.

The Maltings Henry Travers Studio

Friday, 4pm - £6.00

Students and Orlando ticket holders free but places MUST be booked in advance.

This session is presented in association with the Berwick Educational Association.

Linda Bankier

and Gilly Beckett

Crime & Creative Writing – Using the Archives for Inspiration

Crime is a perennial theme in literature but what inspires the writer? With over 30 years' experience in Berwick's Archives, Linda will outline the archive sources available on this theme. Gilly (a Creative Writing tutor) and her group will read excerpts from their stories which were inspired by Berwick's Archives.

Holy Trinity Parish Centre

Friday, 10am - £6.00

Jeremy Dronfield The Boy Who followed his Father into Auschwitz

Based on Gustav Kleinmann's secret diary and meticulous archive research, Jeremy Dronfield's bestselling, inspirational book tells the story of a Jewish father and son's fight for survival – a story of courage unparalleled in the history of the Holocaust. Jeremy Dronfield is a biographer, historian and novelist. He was born in Wales and educated at Cambridge.

The Guildhall
Saturday, 4pm - £6.00

Dyad Productions Orlando

Drawing on a decade's worth of critically-acclaimed theatre-making, Dyad Productions – performer Rebecca Vaughan and writer/director Elton Townend Jones – explore what it means to find our place in the world whilst remaining utterly true to who we are. Based on the satirical 1928 novel by Virginia Woolf.

Michael Ayton will present a pre-production talk at 4pm.

'Tales of Tears'

presented by
The Wilson's Tales Project and Duns Players

£7.00
7:30 pm.

at: Berwick Baptist Church, Golden Square. Berwick. TD15 1BG
7:30 pm on October 17th 2019. Tickets from The Maltings

For 2019 we present another episode from Wilson's Tales of the Borders, Berwick's famous publication from the 1830's.

This year the project works with The Duns Players to present

"Polwarth on the Green".

A tale of maidens in distress, wicked uncles, border feuds and heroic help from unexpected quarters. Based on an old border ballad and adapted by local playwright Dr Micheal Fenty.

Duns Players are noted for presenting old tales in new plays and this falls into both categories. Wilson's Tales Project Director Andrew Ayre also explores Wilson's playwright output with particular reference to "The Siege" covering the events of King Edwards siege of the town.

Stephen Platten

They Know Earth-Secrets:
Thomas Hardy's Tortured
Vocation

Thomas Hardy is often read as a classical Victorian agnostic, or more likely atheist. By discussing Hardy's poetry and prose, Stephen will present the view that his struggle with religious faith was one of the key factors that directed his literary creativity. Stephen is an Honorary Assistant Bishop in the dioceses of London, Newcastle and Southwark.

Berwick Visitor Centre
(downstairs)
Saturday, 4pm - £6.00

Jacob Polley

Jackself

Jacob Polley won the 2016 T.S. Eliot Prize for poetry for his fourth book of poems, Jackself, which was described by the judges as 'a firework of a book'. A poet of the uncanny and the startlingly lyrical, Jacob's work explores his rural upbringing, the forces of tradition and history, and the power of speech as it approaches song.

Uncommon Pairings -
Poem as Diptych
(Writing Workshop)

How can we write poems in which two halves generate a dynamic whole? They may work in partnership and opposition, the space between evoking shifts and silences. Through varied exercises, we'll explore the looser form of 'hinge poems', and the strange but mesmerizing specular poem (invented by Julia Copus) where the lines of the first verse are repeated in reverse order in the second, creating a mirror image. All writers welcome, including beginners.

Margaret Skea and Katharine Tiernan

Hidden Lives: Two writers of historical fiction in conversation.

Join Margaret Skea and Katharine Tiernan for a fascinating glimpse into the challenges of breathing life into contrasting historical figures - one legendary, the other scarcely known, but both iconic. Katharine's recent novel, Cuthbert of Farne revisits the North's favourite saint while Margaret's latest, Katharina: Fortitude, completes her fictionalised biography of Martin Luther's wife.

Holy Trinity Parish Centre
Saturday, 10am - £6.00

Tim Tate

Hitler's British Traitors

Tim Tate is a multi award-winning documentary filmmaker, investigative journalist and best-selling author. His most recent work, Hitler's British Traitors, reveals the previously secret history of scores of British fascists who spied, carried out sabotage and betrayed their country to Nazi Germany during World War Two. A paperback edition will be released in July 2019.

Saturday Evening Special

Saturday, 8pm - 10pm
Price £7.00.

A new innovation for 2019! This will be a very special evening of story-telling, mythology and music in the convivial atmosphere of Pier Red. Story-teller Alice Fernbank will be bringing her adult show from the Edinburgh Festival Fringe to Berwick for a one-off performance. Alice will be accompanied by a musician during the evening. The show will focus on the Celtic myth of love, death, rebirth and transformation: The Golden Fly. Alice mesmerised children and adults alike during last year's Festival, and we are really looking forward to her return in 2019.

Come along and enjoy a glass or two of your favourite tipple and a taste of something refreshingly different.

Tickets are limited, so early booking is recommended.

Berwick Visitor Centre, Walkergate
Saturday 19th October, 10am to 11.30am

Why not come along and read some of your own poems, or the work of a poet that you admire. The event will be informal, friendly and supportive!

If you would like to read something, we recommended that you book a ten-minute slot in advance.

Schools' Programme

This year's programme of events for schools will have a strong emphasis on drama. We have teamed up with Arty-Fact Theatre Company, who will bring a magical theatre production of Oliver Twist to the Guildhall on Friday 18th October. All of Berwick's First Schools will be invited to send a group of children along to enjoy the show.

We will also be offering the Middle Schools and Senior Schools a series of drama workshops focusing on Shakespeare's plays. Arty-Fact will be providing these for us.

Additionally, there will be a series of lectures and presentations at BURC (St Paul's, Spittal). Schools will be invited to send students along. Students will also be admitted free of charge to the Festival's opening event: a drama production at The Maltings on Friday 18th October.

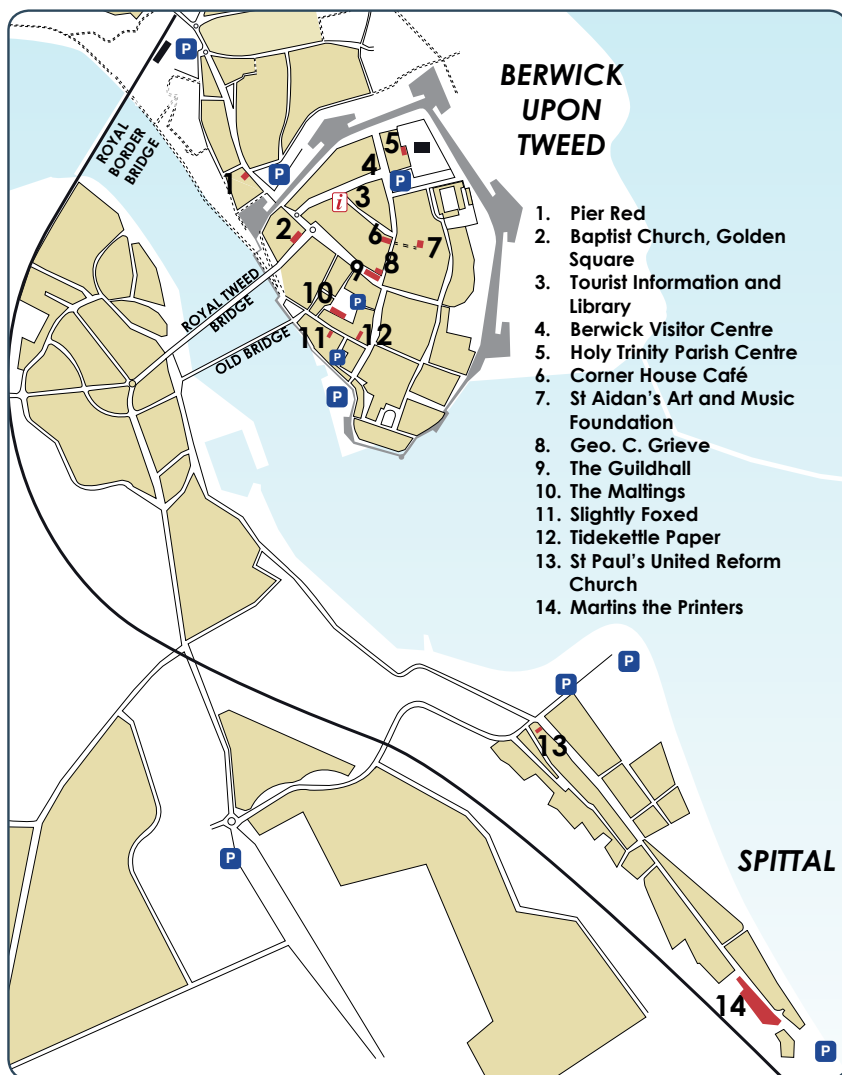

All of the above events are provided free of charge, due to the generosity of our sponsors.
